

Private & Parochial school guide

A listing of local schools

Each child is different. Luckily there are enough private and parochial schools in the Baltimore area to ensure a perfect fit for every student. Take a look to see if a different direction might be right for your child.

Editor's note: Schools included in this listing teach at least through the fifth grade. Information was provided by the schools. Some schools did not respond to requests for information. In those cases, we have used information from our 2008 listing. Tuition figures do not include all fees. Some schools offer sibling discounts. If your school is not included, e-mail bstein@patuxent.com to be included next year.
